For Young Men.

A very interesting men's meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A. building last evening. The devotional exercises were impressive, and the singing by the address was delivered by Mr. George F. His thoughts were excellent, and the illustrations used were apt. Mr. Tibbitts will conduct the meeting to-night at 7:45 o'clock. Rev. C. H. Molony will sing a solo. All men will be welcome. The meetings on Friday and Saturday evenings will also be addressed by Mr. Tibbitts. On Sunday afternoon he will make the talk, and the Fourth street M. E. church choir will sing.

EAST END HAS FATAL ACCIDENT.

Nicholas Houy, an Eighteen-Year-Old Young Man Run Down by a Railroad Train

ON THE W. & L. E. LAST NIGHT.

The Engineer Made Every Effort to Stop the Train, But it Was Without Success.

Last night at 7 o'clock, on the Terminal tracks on the Peninsula, near the Reymann brewery, Wheeling & Lake Erie passenger train No. 1, ran over and almost instantly killed Nicholas Houy, aged eighteen years, the son of Andrew Houy, who conducts a grocery at 1118 Elizabeth street, in the East End.

Engineer Cooper made every effort possible to stop his train after the headlight had shown the young man walking on the track ahead, but without success, and the unfortunate was run down and fearfully mangled, death being almost instantaneous. The remains were brought to the Terminal station in the city, and later taken to an undertaking establishment, where they were prepared for burial.

The news of the tragedy was received with sorrow in the East End, where the young man is well known. It develops that young Houy was in company with another boy, named Peck, and they had been at the new coal mines on the Peninsula, getting coal. Each was carrying a sack and walking on the track when they heard the whistle of the approaching train, but supposed they were on the main track, and stepped over to the other. Peck turned and saw the train just in time to escape by stepping aside, but Houy was standing on the ties, lighting his pipe, and was struck before he could make a move to save himself.

Coroner Schultze made an investigation last night, and rendered a verdict that Houy came to his death by unavoidable accident.
